CELEBRATION OF BLACK HISTORY TO TAKE PLACE AT UNIVERSITY

SCRANTON--The University of Scranton's United Colors Student organization will present "Africa to America: A Celebration of Black History" on Thursday, April 24 from 7 to 9 p.m. in the auditorium of Leahy Hall at the corner of Jefferson Ave. and Linden St. on the University campus.

The program, which is free and open to the public, will feature African dance, gospel singing, praise dance, skits and a dramatic poetry reading. The guest speaker will be Fr. Thomas Asante of Ghana, Africa.

United Colors, which traces its organizational roots to 1990, took its current name in 1993. The group is open to all students, regardless of race, and works to emphasize the diversity on campus and to help students become more aware of other cultures.
