NATIONAL RECOGNITION

Ten Years in the Top Ten

The University is celebrating a decade of national recognition following the release of U.S. News & World Report's 2004 "America's Best Colleges" issue, which ranks

Scranton among the top ten universities in the north for the 10th consecutive year.

In the 2004 edition, the University ranked sixth among "Universities-Master's" in the north. Also in the edition, Scranton was included among "Key Criteria in Judging a School" having a graduation rate that was among the highest in the north.

U.S. News has included the University in its rankings since the magazine first introduced them 20 years ago in 1983.

U.S. News bases its "Universities-Master's" rankings on a range of quality indicators, including peer evaluation, retention of students and graduation rates, faculty resources, student selectivity, financial resources and alumni giving. The north is the nation's largest and most competitive region.

Among the "Most Interesting Colleges"

For the second consecutive year, The University of Scranton has been selected as one of the "most interesting colleges" in the nation by a publication that offers students an "unbiased" guide to their college selection.

The University of Scranton is profiled in the 2004 edition of Kaplan Publishing's The Unofficial, (Un)biased, Insider's Guide to the 328 Most Interesting Colleges, by Trent Anderson and Seppy Basili.

The University is one of just 25 colleges in Pennsylvania to be profiled in this year's guide. The publication surveys students, recent graduates, guidance counselors and college administrators to compile an inside look of select colleges from a range of perspectives.

One of "The Best 351 Colleges"

The University is included in a national publication as one of the country's best institutions for undergraduate education. For the second consecutive year,

The Princeton Review has included the University in its annual college guidebook, The Best 351 Colleges.

The ranking lists in the 2004 edition are based on The Princeton Review's survey of 106,000 students at the 351 colleges in the book.

The University of Scranton is also among the 98 schools profiled in the first edition of The Best Mid-Atlantic Colleges. Schools profiled in this regional guidebook are regarded by the editors as colleges and universities that stand out within each region, or are less well known outside of their region.

Among the "Most Connected Campuses"

The Princeton Review ranked the University 30th in the nation for its technological sophistication in its list of "America's Most Connected Campuses." Forbes.com published the list of 351 schools.

The University of Scranton was the only college in northeastern Pennsylvania to make the list.

The only Jesuit university to be ranked higher than Scranton was Loyola University of New Orleans (ranked 27). The next highest ranked Jesuit university was Gonzaga University, Wash., (ranked 70).

National Ranking for Chemistry Program

The American Chemical Society (ACS) recently ranked the University's graduate chemistry program tops in the nation for non-Ph.D. programs and 15th overall based on the number of master's degrees awarded during the 2000-2001 academic year. The report, issued by the ACS's Committee on Professional Training, listed the number of graduates from 630 ACS-approved programs in the 2000-2001 academic year. It was included in the Aug. 25 issue of Chemical and Engineering News.

All of the universities with more master's graduates than The University of Scranton offer Ph.D. programs, making The University of Scranton the top school in the nation for awarding master's degrees for non-Ph.D. graduate programs in chemistry.

Madison Square Townhouses Open

One hundred and fourteen University students had a new place to call home when they returned to campus this fall. The students are living in the newly built 37,301 square foot apartment complex called Madison Square. The three-story apartment style townhouses, located on the corner of Madison Avenue and Mulberry Street, house juniors and seniors in 25 apartments. The complex consists of three buildings surrounding an outdoor garden area.

CONFERENCES & LECTURES

Leading Economist Delivers Henry George Lecture

Paul Romer, Ph.D., one of the nation's leading economists, offered words of hope and caution as the guest speaker at the University's annual Henry George Lecture on Nov. 5. Dr. Romer, Professor of Economics, Stanford University, and founder of Aplia, Inc., San Carlos, Calif., presented "Debt, Demographics and Democracy: The New Threats of the 21st Century."

Paul Romer, Ph.D.

Funded by a grant from the Robert Schalkenbach Foundation, the Henry George Lecture Series is the pre-eminent public lecture series in economics in northeastern Pennsylvania.

In addition, Dr. Romer addressed "How Does an Economy Create Value? Can it Keep Doing So Forever?" at the University's President's Breakfast, also on Nov. 5.

Holocaust Conference and Forum Held

The Holocaust Education Resource Center and the University presented "Recollections of War: Victims and the Law, A Community Conference and Forum," on Nov. 10 and 11 in the Houlihan-McLean Center on campus.

The forum began with the Annual Fall Lecture of the University's Weinberg Judaic Studies Institute. The featured speaker was Joshua M. Greene, who co-produced and co-directed the award-winning film "Witness: Voices from the Holocaust." The film, which was screened as part of the lecture, gives a distinct perspective of the Holocaust as told through interviews with Holocaust survivors.

Regulatory Changes Discussed at Symposium

Panelists examined the effectiveness of current legislation in restoring public confidence in corporate governance at the second annual Accounting Symposium on Corporate Governance, sponsored by the University's Kania School of Management and the certified public accounting firm of Parente Randolph, PC.

Seated, from left, David J. Kvapil, Executive Vice President and CFO of Southern Union Company; William R. Lazor, CPA, President, Pennsylvania Institute of Certified Public Accountants; Philip Santarelli, CPA, Principal, Parente Randolph PC Accountants & Consultants; and Dr. Abraham Briloff, the Emmanuel Saxe Distinguished Professor Emeritus at City University of New York's Baruch College. Standing are Andrew J. Felo, Ph.D., Assistant Professor of Accounting, Penn State Great Valley, and, representing The University of Scranton, Steven A. Solieri, Ph.D., Assistant Professor of Accounting, Michael Mensah, Ph.D., Professor of Accounting and Department Chair, and Ronald Johnson, DBA, Dean of the Kania School of Management.

A lecture and audiovisual presentation on Mr. Greene's newly released book, Justice at Dachau, was held Nov. 11. The book explores the Dachau trials, a relatively unknown series of court proceedings held for war crimes of the Holocaust.

CEO Speaks at President's Breakfast

James M. Papada, III '70, Chief Executive Officer of Technitrol Inc., provided a sobering and honest reflection on the challenges posed by recent regulatory changes as the featured speaker at the University's President's Breakfast on Sept. 24. Mr. Papada discussed "The Post-Enron Climate: How a Harried CEO Copes."

James M. Papada, III '70

Mullin Lecture Features Nobel Prize-winner

Nobel Prize-winning scientist Torsten N. Wiesel, M.D., presented the Harry Mullin, M.D., Memorial Lecture to a capacity crowd at the University on Oct. 8. Dr. Wiesel presented "Do We Learn to See? The Role of Nature and Nurture in Brain Development." Dr. Wiesel (right) was welcomed on campus by Martynas Ycas, Ph.D., 1997 Mullin lecturer (left), and Brian Mullin, M.D., '66 (center). The Mullin Lecture, sponsored by Mrs. Harry Mullin, Robbin Mullin and Brian Mullin, honors Harry Mullin, M.D., '31, a person who dedicated a lifetime of service to his profession and community.

Second Annual disABILITY Conference Held

Edward R. Leahy '68 and Patricia Leahy were Honorary Chairs of and presenters at the disABILITY Conference.

More than 150 people attended the University's second Annual disABILITY Conference held Sept. 18 and 19 on campus. Three keynote speakers and more than 30 other experts and authors explored "Transition from School to Work" during the Conference. Speakers discussed topics ranging from spiritual and cultural to educational and legislative aspects of disability.

Keynote speakers were Denise Bissonnette, an author and motivational speaker; Br. Rick Curry, S.J., founder and artistic director of the National Theater Workshop of the Handicapped (NTWH); and the Hon. Joanne Wilson, the Commissioner of the Rehabilitation Services Administration, Washington, D.C.

The conference was supported, in part, by the Pennsylvania Department of Health through the Maternal and Child Health Services Title V Block Grant from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services; and by a grant from Northeastern Educational Intermediate Unit #19.

APPOINTMENTS

Nine Members Named to Board of Trustees

Nine new members have been elected to three-year terms on the University's Board of Trustees.

Rev. George A. Aschenbrenner, S.J., Msgr. Joseph Bambera, J.C.L., Rev. Otto H. Hentz, S.J., Carl J. Kuehner, '62, Carl J. Lisman, Rev. Arthur R. Madigan, S.J., Margaret Q. Mariotti, Au.D., Karen Pennington, Ph.D., '76, G'83, and Harold T. Rose '65 began their terms at the Sept. 25 board meeting.

Administrative Appointments Announced

Kathleen V. Davis, Ph.D., has been named Dean of Dexter Hanley College, the University's division that serves undergraduate adult learners.

Dr. Davis's career includes service as Chief Executive Officer at Cambia County Area Community College in Johnstown, as the Dean of Instruction and Student Services at the Fauquier Campus, Lord Fairfax Community College, Va., and as Dean of Continuing Education and Assistant Dean of Continuing Education at Orangeburg-Calhoun.

Rev. George A. Aschenbrenner, S.J., has returned to the University as Rector of the Jesuit Community. Father Aschenbrenner was a member of the Campus Ministry staff at the University from 1979 to 1982, as Spiritual Director for lay faculty and facilitator of reflection on Ignatian charism. He has most recently served as Director of the Jesuit Center for Spiritual Growth in Wernersville.

Thomas P. Smith, Psy.D., has been named Director of the University's Counseling Center. Dr. Smith has been a clinical psychologist at the center since August 1989. Prior to his service at the University, Dr. Smith had worked in various inpatient and outpatient psychiatric settings.

Debra Busacco, Ph.D., has been named the Director of the University's new Center for Teaching and Learning Excellence (CTLE). Most recently, Dr. Busacco served as Director of the Academic Affairs Unit of the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association (ASHA) in Rockville, Md.

Michele E. Davis '77 has been appointed the Director of the Center for Continuing Education at the University. Ms. Davis comes to the University from Penn State Worthington Campus, where she served as director of Continuing Education since 1998. She was previously employed in the University's Small Business Development Center.

FACULTY

Four Faculty Honored at Fall Convocation

Four faculty members were honored at the University's Fall Convocation on Sept. 5.

Mary Elizabeth (Betsey) Moylan '90, Reference Librarian at the University's Weinberg Memorial Library, was awarded the 5th annual John L. Earl III Award for service to the University, the faculty, and the wider community. The award is given in the spirit of generosity and dedication that Dr. John Earl, a distinguished professor of history, exemplified during his years at the University from 1964 to 1996.

Three faculty members were named the institution's first Distinguished University Fellows: Ellen Casey, Ph.D., Professor of English; Thomas Hogan, Ph.D., Professor of Psychology; and Len Gougeon, Ph.D., Professor of English. The award recognizes exceptional teaching, scholarship and service.

STUDENTS

Presidential Scholarships Awarded to Nine

The University has awarded nine freshmen full-tuition Presidential Scholarships named in honor of individuals who have made significant contributions to the University and the community.

Presidential Scholarships are awarded to incoming freshmen with exemplary high school records both inside and outside the classroom. The scholarships cover the full cost of tuition for four years of study as long as the recipient maintains at least a 3.25 grade point average.

The 2003 Presidential Scholars and honorees are:

- Shana Marie Barrett, the Mr. Peter Moylan '76 Scholarship
- Joseph A. Butash, the Virginia Schwalm, Ph.D. Scholarship
- Joseph P. Conley, the Mr. William Kelly, Jr., '93 Scholarship
- Kristy A. Gogick, the Mr. Thomas J. Davis '69 Scholarship
- Stephen J. Janofsky, the Frank Sabatino, Esq. '76 Scholarship
- Philip W. Loscombe, the Mrs. Jean Columbo Scholarship
- Jennifer E. Moore, the Mr. Gary Haag Scholarship
- Johnathan Musyt, the Mr. Leo Moskovitz Scholarship
- Bridget A. Rooney, the Ms. Madeleine Robinson Scholarship

Freshman Class Drawn from Record Pool of Applicants

The University welcomed more than 1,350 incoming students this fall, including 979 full-time freshman students; 79 transfers to the undergraduate day school; approximately 100 adult and part-time students and more than 200 students entering the Graduate School.

The incoming undergraduate class is already in the school's record books, representing the largest applicant pool in the University's 115-year history. The entering undergraduate students were drawn from more than 5,649 applicants, which is a 10 percent increase over the last year's record of 5,123 applicants.

Joseph H. Dreisbach, Ph.D., Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, presented awards during the third annual Honors Convocation.

Honors Convocation Celebrates Academic Achievement

Approximately 590 students were recognized at the third annual Honors Convocation for undergraduate students held on Oct. 26.

The President, Provost, Deans and faculty of the University honored students who achieved the Dean's List for both semesters of the 2002-2003 academic year, as well as those who won other scholastic awards in the course of the year. Individual convocations were held for each of the four colleges. The convocations were followed by receptions for students and their guests.

Jon Forte was among the FIRST participants who volunteered service at eight local sites, including the Eastern Pennsylvania Jewish Home.

Making a FIRST Impression

Through a new program at the University, 28 incoming freshmen began volunteering at community organizations days before their classmates even arrived in late August.

The freshmen were the first participants in a program called FIRST (Freshmen Involved in Reflective Service Together). The reflective service immersion program involved the students in service at eight local sites over three days prior to move-in.

Over three days, the students volunteered at Habitat for Humanity, the Jewish Home, the Scranton Public Library, Keystone Community, St. Joseph's Center, the Infant Day Care Center at Covenant, St. Francis of Assisi Soup Kitchen, and Lackawanna State Park.

THE ARTS

Hope Horn Gallery Hosts Exhibits

The Hope Horn Gallery at the University hosted two exhibits in the summer and fall. Artists at Work, a juried exhibition of works of the Northeast Photography Club, was held from Aug. 3 – 29. Made in America: Recent Works by Jaune Quick-to-See Smith was featured from Sept. 14 – Nov. 21. The artist's works comment on the role of traditional Native American cultures in the United States today.

Crime Novelist Receives Distinguished Author Award

Renowned Manhattan prosecutor and New York Times best-selling crime novelist Linda Fairstein received the 2003 Royden B. Davis, S.J. Distinguished Author Award presented by the Friends of the Weinberg Memorial Library on Nov. 8. At a book-signing before the awards reception, Ms. Fairstein signed a copy of her newest novel, The Bone Vault, for Diane D. Murray, President of Friends of the Weinberg Memorial Library (right).

University Players Open New Season

The University of Scranton Players opened their 2003-2004 season with the presentation of "The Fantasticks," an enduring treasure of American musical theater, Sept. 26-28 and Oct. 2-5. "The Fantasticks" marked the 10th anniversary of University Players productions in the Royal Theater of the McDade Center for Literary & Performing Arts. The University Players presented "Our Country's Good," Nov. 14-16 and 21-23.

Juilliard Jazz Orchestra Performs at the University

The University of Scranton Performing Arts Series presented a concert by The Juilliard Jazz Orchestra on Nov. 8 in the Houlihan-McLean Center. Juilliard is widely regarded as one of the most prestigious music, dance and drama schools in the world.

Jazz also took center stage at the University on Nov. 2, when the University's Jazz Ensemble performed in concert with guest composer, arranger and saxophonist Art Hornberger.

SUPPORT FOR SCRANTON

MetLife Supports University of Success Program

Representatives of Metropolitan Life recently presented a check in the amount of $10,000 to The University of Scranton in support of its University of Success mentoring program for middle and high school students. Each year, 20 seventh graders are identified for this program, which continues through high school graduation. Shown at the check presentation are, from left: Kimberly L.

CAMPUS EVENTS

Open House Events Draw Record Crowds

A record number of prospective students and their families spent a "Day on the Commons" during two fall Open House events on Oct. 19 and Nov. 2. Approximately 850 prospective students visited campus on Oct. 19. Attendance at the Nov. 2 Open House totaled about 830 students. By comparison, last year's fall Open House attendance averaged about 670 students per event.

SCRANTON ATHLETICS

Ice Hockey

The return of 17 lettermen should further enhance the Ice Royals' reputation in the Eastern Collegiate Hockey Association this year.

For Scranton to move into the upper echelon of the league may depend on how well junior goalie Curt Butcher returns from a broken ankle that forced him to miss the final 15 games of last season. He will, however, need some help. Veteran head coach Bill Fitzgerald is counting on veteran defensemen Chris Breary, Tim Connolly and Mike Bonagura, along with newcomers Ryan Lucas and Dan Stallone, to keep the puck away from Butcher.

Offensively, Fitzgerald feels the Ice Royals shouldn't have too many problems scoring goals. His anticipated first line of forwards Rob Loderstedt, Jon Eaton and Tim Polcari combined for 43 goals and 64 assists last season, while the second line will be bolstered by senior Kyle Eaton, who needs only seven points to move ahead of Mike Sullivan (142 total points, 1998-2001) as the all-time leading scorer in Scranton history.

Junior goalie Curt Butcher will return to the Ice Royals' lineup after missing 15 games a year ago with a broken ankle.

Men's Basketball

If Brian O'Donnell and Ryan Rogan were actors, their performances for the Royals over the last two seasons would be considered worthy of an Oscar. In their supporting roles of power, forward and guard, respectively, the pair blended in perfectly with a talented nucleus that culminated in one of the more memorable seasons in program's storied history last winter. The Royals put the finishing touch on a 24-6 overall record by earning its 19th bid to the NCAA Division III championships, where Scranton advanced to the Sweet 16 in Carl Danzig's second season as head coach.

Junior guard Ryan Rogan is expected to take a leadership role as the Royals defend their Freedom Conference title this year.

O'Donnell and Rogan will find themselves thrust into limelight, now that they are the lone returning starters on a talented, but inexperienced roster.

Both appear to be up to the task. O'Donnell established himself as one of the top all-round players in the Freedom Conference by finishing in the top 15 in seven of the league's statistical categories. Rogan worked hard on developing the other aspects of his game and finished the year by being ranked in four Freedom Conference statistical categories.

Danzig's biggest challenge, however, lies in finding a supporting cast to fill in the gap created by the loss of three starters to graduation. Freshman Mike Kreuter, a 6-7, 255-pound center, has the size and strength to give O'Donnell much-needed help down low, while red-shirt freshman Victor Agapay, a 6-9 shot blocker, will look to bounce back from a knee injury and is expected to compete for a starting role as well.

Depending on game situations, Danzig can utilize 6-7 sophomore Bill Burke, a scoring threat whose size will provide match-up problems for opposing teams at small forward, or he can go with incoming freshmen Justin Freid and Patrick Clabby. If Danzig needs to go with a three-guard rotation, freshman Mike McGowan, a sharp-shooting outside scoring threat, may get the nod to start opposite Rogan and either sophomore Nick Alfier or freshman Sean Clark at the other guard position. Sophomores Matt Snyder and Thomas Gangemi and junior Matt Duardo will battle for playing time behind Alfier and Clark, while sophomore Mike Riccobono's development will allow Danzig to give Rogan a breather at times throughout the year.

With only two players returning who have seen significant playing time, the Royals will need to grow up in a hurry. The schedule includes four teams that won at least 20 games last year, not to mention six others that had winning records.

Swimming

The men's and women's swim teams have established a level of consistency among the elite programs in the Middle Atlantic Conference during Tomm Evans' six-year tenure as head coach.

The upcoming 2003-2004 season promises to be no exception. The Royal men welcome back four swimmers who placed in the top-six in four events at the 2003 MAC championships, where Scranton finished fourth overall with 273 points, its highest point total ever.

Junior Brendan Connors has plenty of incentive. He is looking to become the second male swimmer in Royals history to capture a conference title after finishing second in the 200-yard butterfly at the MAC championships in each of the last two years. Seniors Brian McKenzie and Joseph Mulhall and sophomore Dan Lavin will provide leadership and experience in a number of events and are expected to be key performers on the medley and freestyle relay teams.

The Royal women, who have finished third at the Senior Allyson Jengo finished in the top-six in two events at the 2003 Middle Atlantic Conference championships as the Royals placed third for the third consecutive season.

conference meet in each of the last three seasons, will rely on seniors Kristen Best, Jayne Smith and Allyson Jengo, each of whom placed in the top-six in two events at the 2003 MAC championships and who hold a combined five Royal individual records.

Women's Basketball

Seniors Kate Pierangeli and Katie Dougherty highlight the return of 12 letter-winners who will be out to lead the Lady Royals to their first Freedom Conference championship since 2002.

Senior guard Kate Pierangeli enters the upcoming season 70 points shy of becoming the 20th player in Lady Royals history to score 1000 career points.

Pierangeli led Scranton in four statistical categories on her way to earning first-team all-league honors for the second straight year and first-team all-Mid-Atlantic region by D3hoops.com. Dougherty, blessed with speed and quickness, has been the perfect complement to Pierangeli. The duo thrive in Strong's up-tempo style of play, and their ability to put pressure on the basketball was a major reason why Scranton averaged nearly 16 steals a game last season.

Strong has plenty of other options in the back court. He can call on long-distance shooting specialist and senior Judy Flounders when he needs to stretch a zone defense. When Pierangeli and Dougherty need a rest, Strong can rely on sophomores Amanda Natale, Erin Healy, Kelly Lewandowski and Susan Welch, junior Megan McMurdo, and freshman Allison Matt.

As talented as the Lady Royals appear to be in the back court, it's the small forward position that could turn out to be Scranton's strongest suit. Junior Tara Gemmel and freshman Taryn Mellody both possess excellent all-around skills and should prevent opponents from concentrating solely on stopping Pierangeli and Dougherty.

Gemmel started all 28 games last season and averaged 13.6 points and 3.9 rebounds per game, while Mellody comes into the program with an impressive high school resume, which includes earning Associated Press all-state honors twice at nearby Bishop O'Hara High School.

Even though the Lady Royals lost only two players to graduation, both losses came at the powerful forward position. Junior Maura Kane appears to be the leading candidate to take over after appearing in 53 games as a key reserve the past two seasons. Strong can also utilize Gemmel, Mellody and Lewandowski in a number of different rotations when Kane needs assistance.

Two-year starter Eileen Webster will once again hold down the center duties, where she will be called upon to provide a defensive presence and to help ease the rebounding burden on Kane. Sophomore Kate Krenz and freshman Tessa Kelley will see action as back-ups to Webster throughout the season.

The Lady Royals' challenging 25-game schedule includes six teams that won at least 20 games a year ago. Scranton will also play 15 road games in its attempt to reach the 20-win plateau for the 13th consecutive year.

Wrestling

To judge Brett Owen's impact on the Royals' wrestling program in his first season as head coach solely on wins and losses would be short-sighted.

His knowledge of the sport resulted in a number of significant accomplishments that the team's 5-13 record didn't truly reflect. His work with Darren Buseman resulted in the 157-pounder becoming only the second wrestler in Scranton history to garner all-American honors at the NCAA Division

Senior Ron Saglimbene capped off a solid 2003 season by finishing third in the 174-pound weight class at the Middle Atlantic Conference championships.

III championships.

Other wrestlers who benefited from Owen's hard work include senior Ron Saglimbene, who posted a career-best 22-12 record; senior

Tim Grover, who won a career-best 15 matches; junior Tim Simansky, who moved up to 149 pounds last year and won 24 matches; junior Mike Kelly, who doubled his win output from the previous season; senior Jose Valdez, who posted his first winning season at 165; and sophomore Trevor Needham, who battled his way to 13 wins at 197.

A number of challenges await Owen during the upcoming 2003-2004 season. In addition to the loss of Buseman, he must develop freshmen Chris Rosett, Donell Young and Jonathan Marzella, each of whom are expected to see considerable action in the lower weight classes.

In the middle tier of the lineup, Simansky will be a mainstay at 149, with relief help being provided by veteran Tom Phillips, while Grover is expected to battle newcomers Jonathan Klinger and Kevin Byrne for Buseman's spot at 157. Valdez and Saglimbene have been penciled in as starters at 165 and 174, respectively, with veterans Ryan Bennett and Tom D'Alessio seeing action as key reserves.

The return of A.J. Caprio to the lineup at 197 after a three-year absence will allow Owen to move Needham back to 184, a more natural weight class for him. Freshman Pat Betterton will back-up Needham while sophomore Matt Butler will do the same for Caprio at times throughout the season. Kelly and junior Vince Realmuto will be featured at the 285-pound weight class.

The focus of the season will be the Middle Atlantic Conference championships, which Scranton will host on Friday and Saturday, February 20-21, at the John J. Long, S.J., Center.

*A procession of over 300 dignitaries.
Delegates from 102 colleges and universities.
An audience of 2,100 distinguished guests.*

And all for one purpose:

THE INAUGURATION OF REV. SCOTT R. PILARZ, S.J.,
AS THE TWENTY-FOURTH PRESIDENT OF THE UNIVERSITY OF SCRANTON.

It wasn't just the numbers that were impressive. There were eloquent words of poetry and prose, wisdom and wit, reflection and resolve.

"This University, this miracle in the mountains, began as an engine of opportunity, a gateway to the American dream," Fr. Pilarz said, reflecting on the University's founding during his remarks at the September 26 Inauguration Ceremony.

The engine behind the University's early days was fueled by the same vision that shaped northeastern Pennsylvania.

"Like the city of Scranton and the region of northeastern Pennsylvania, The University of Scranton has always welcomed those who were looking to find their place in the world, to find their place as full participants in our society," said Fr. Pilarz.

A CELEBRATION OF “THIS MIRACLE IN THE MOUNTAINS”

One of those people was Stanislaus Milewski, an emigrant of Poland and grandfather of Suzanne Strempek Shea, who delivered the keynote address and received an honorary degree at the Inauguration Ceremony held in the Byron Recreation Complex.

While her grandfather settled here about 100 years ago to work in the coal mines, Ms. Strempek Shea told the audience that this was her first visit to the area. The author described Scranton as “a city of new starts.”

“Scranton. To me, it stands for that - new starts,” said Ms. Strempek Shea. “And the new president of The University of Scranton inaugurated on this day could hardly be a more qualified miner - good, kind, benevolent, energetic, faith-filled, going into this with eyes wide open, bearing the tools of pen, prayers, poems and promise.”

The ceremony marking Fr. Pilarz’s “day of a big new start” was attended by a long list of dignitaries that include Most Reverend James C. Timlin, D.D., Bishop Emeritus of Scranton, Rabbi Aaron Lewis Peller, former Governor William W. Scranton, U.S. Rep. Paul E. Kanjorski, Scranton Mayor Chris Doherty and Pennsylvania’s Auditor General Robert P. Casey, Jr. Former University Presidents Rev. Joseph M. McShane, S.J., and Rev. J.A. Panuska, S.J., were joined by presidents of 24 other colleges and universities, as well as other representatives from 102 colleges, Provincials of the New York and Maryland Provinces, and organizations from throughout the nation.

The numbers – and the words – were equally impressive at the Inauguration Eucharist held September 25, also in the Byron Recreation Complex.

A crowd of about 1,000 people listened earnestly to a homily delivered by Rev. Dean Bechard, S.J., Assistant Professor of Theology at Fordham University. He based his homily on the “salt of the earth” quotation from the first book of Timothy. In his homily, Fr. Bechard explained that salt is regarded by many as a new beginning and is symbolic of new wisdom.

“The power of wisdom, like that of salt, is nothing magical,” said Fr. Bechard. “Its origin is both human and divine; its formation is slow and gradual; its constancy is the reward of those who live human lives blessed and infused with love.”

There were also words sung during the World Premiere Composition at the Inauguration and the Inauguration Concert on September 27. During these two events, the University Symphonic Band and Concert Choirs performed Lawrence Wolfe’s original composition “All in Every Part” based on text from “Of the Blessed Sacrament of the Aulter” by Jesuit martyr St. Robert Southwell, S.J. (1561-1595).

St. Southwell’s poetry has not been performed to music since the 16th century. Yet some 400 years later, it resonated with remarkable clarity in a celebration of what Fr. Pilarz described as “a priceless ineluctable mystery” and “this miracle in the mountains” – The University of Scranton.

"The University of Scranton is richly blessed in so many ways and by so many people – students, faculty, staff, administrators, alumni, alumnae and trustees. We are grateful that we can now add you to our list of blessings."

– Jean W. Harris, Ph.D.
Associate Professor of Political Science,
Past President of Faculty Senate

ROTC student T.J. Hromisin placed first in the Inauguration 5K Run/Walk. More than 150 people turned out for the event.

Suzanne Strempek Shea, keynote speaker and honorary degree recipient, was welcomed to Scranton by U.S. Rep. Paul E. Kanjorski (left) and Frank J. McDonnell, Esq. '60, Chair of the University's Board of Trustees.

The University Symphonic Band and Concert Choirs performed the World Premiere of Lawrence Wolfe's composition "All in Every Part" based on text by St. Robert Southwell, S.J.

"May Father Pilarz bring to his tenure as President a heightened sense of Christian humanism which calls us to know ourselves, to rule ourselves and, above all, to give ourselves to one another as You have given yourself to us."

– Most Reverend James C. Timlin, D.D., H'87, Bishop Emeritus of Scranton
An excerpt from the Benediction

"Georgetown has sent us Father Pilarz
 Now he's the newest of the president stars
 When he arrived, the heavens sent Mars
 And now there's more spaces for parking our cars"

– Hon. William W. Scranton H'63, former Governor of Pennsylvania (1963-1967) and Ambassador to the United Nations (1976-1977)
One of several lighthearted limericks celebrating Father Pilarz, and past presidents, Father McShane and Father Panuska

"Preparing students for leadership in the 21st century is a daunting responsibility. We, your fellow presidents, offer to you in the spirit of collaboration that defines us as colleagues, the same assistance and support that we now share with one another as you assume your new responsibilities as the president of The University of Scranton."

– Sr. Mary Reap, I.H.M., Ph.D., H'97

Offering greetings from colleges and universities in northeastern Pennsylvania and from the Association of Independent Colleges and Universities in Pennsylvania

"Wisdom emerges when the human experience, in all its complexities, is warmed, is heated by the penetrating rays of authentic love. Where can we expect to receive the gift of wisdom? It's impossible to predict, but ... we will learn to be wise when we learn how to love."

– Rev. Dean Bechard, S.J., Assistant Professor of Theology at Fordham University

A CELEBRATION OF "THIS MIRACLE IN THE MOUNTAINS" EXCERPTS FROM FATHER PILARZ'S INAUGURATION ADDRESS

Since it is a mystery, the precise nature of Jesuit higher education will remain elusive because of the built-in flexibility born out of the nimble imagination of Ignatius Loyola. As educators in the Jesuit tradition we must read the signs of the times and respond accordingly, always honing our mission to meet the needs of an ever-emerging world. As Jesuit educators we can never slavishly imitate what has been done in the past. Ignatius Loyola's spiritual and education legacy liberates us "from the perpendicular, from straight lines, blocks, boxes and binds of thought." Instead, we must "yield to a direction of significance and accept the becoming thought... never humbling reality to precept," admitting that we "have perceived nothing completely," especially not the inexhaustible mysteries of God and God's love for us.

Confident that the same God can be sought and found in all things, we at Scranton welcome what is to come. The American transcendentalist, Ralph Waldo Emerson, believed that in the world there are really only two parties, the party of memory and the party of hope. We educators in the Jesuit tradition, we here at The University of Scranton, we are and must remain the party of hope.

We, on this campus, insist that a Scranton education, a Jesuit education, is a priceless ineluctable mystery and ultimately, the work of God's good grace. The interaction between a student and a professor is a rare and precious commodity. It partakes of the sacred, and its worth is impossible to measure. How can the value of pursuing truth ever be quantified? In the words of the poet John Donne: "on a huge hill, cragged and steep, truth stands, and he that will reach her, about must and about must go, and what the hill's suddenness resists, win so. Yet strive so... Hard deeds, the body's pains; hard knowledge too the mind's endeavors reach, and mysteries are like the sun, dazzling, yet plain to all eyes. [so] keep the truth which thou hast found."

The hill upon which our university sits is not so intimidating as the one Donne describes. Nevertheless, our pursuit of truth for the greater glory of God is no less difficult an exercise. It demands no less of us, but the heights we will reach together at Scranton will be no less dazzling.

“A PLACE OF STARTS”

Excerpts from the keynote address by author Suzanne Strempek Shea

Almost 100 years ago, a Polish emigrant named Stanislaus Milewski settled in Scranton to work in the coal mines.

*On September 26, 2003, Mr. Milewski's granddaughter, Suzanne Strempek Shea, made her first trip to Scranton to deliver the keynote address at the Inauguration ceremony of Father Pilarz. In her address, the award-winning author of several books, including Selling the Lite of Heaven, Hoopi Shoopi Donna and Songs From a Lead-lined Room, reflected on Scranton as "a city of new starts" for her grandfather, Stanislaus Milewski, and her friend, Rev. Scott R. Pilarz, S.J.*

"How could I be in Scranton for the first time - to receive an honorary degree - how could I be here in the city that fueled my dziadziu's (grandfather's) story and not point out how that figured in my own history.

Scranton.

I see it as a place of starts - and here I am, finally, on this day of a big new start for Fr. Scott Pilarz, for The University of Scranton. I stand here with renewed admiration for the friend who has come to these same hills to which my dziadziu journeyed a century ago. Unless there's something weird about his office, Scott will be toiling above ground, but will be doing a version of what Stanislaus did here - reaching, searching, hoping to find, working to locate the stuff that can fuel. He will be mining this institution, these students' minds, this community's soul, all in the hope of moving all in a better direction, toward a brighter, more promising future. The work will be hard, tiring, all-encompassing. But it also will be done joyously - hand in hand with others who hold the same goals of education, inspiration, betterment of self, of this world."

President's Business Council Honors Paul Montrone '62

Paul Montrone is a man of great accomplishment who is equally blessed with many great friendships. The University of Scranton President's Business Council dinner honoring him raised one million dollars, proceeds of which will help fund Presidential Scholarships for talented students at the University.

In addition to the 500 guests in attendance, former President Bill Clinton, U.S. Senators Edward Kennedy and John Sununu, and opera star Beverly Sills joined business leaders from throughout the world in a video tribute to Mr. Montrone.

Mr. Montrone was awarded the President's Medal at the black tie event, which was held at The Pierre in Manhattan in early October. The President's Business Council awards the President's Medal to recognize individuals who have achieved excellence in their fields and who have demonstrated extraordinary compassion for others.

Mr. Montrone was the second to receive this honor. At last year's inaugural dinner, the first President's Medal was awarded to University of Scranton alumnus Gerard R. Roche, Senior Chairman of the international search firm Heidrick and Struggles, Inc.

Mr. Roche introduced Mr. Montrone at this year's dinner. University of Scranton

President Scott R. Pilarz, S.J., also gave remarks at the dinner, which was chaired by University alumnus Joseph T. Doyle.

The President's Business Council was formed nearly three years ago by a prominent group of metropolitan New York-based alumni. The council is chaired by University of Scranton alumnus Christopher M. "Kip" Condron, President and Chief Executive Officer, AXA Financial, Inc.

A 1962 magna cum laude graduate of the University, Mr. Montrone is the chairman and CEO of Fisher Scientific International, Inc., a world leader in supplying a broad range of products and services to research, testing and clinical laboratories.

Under Mr. Montrone's leadership, Fisher Scientific has grown from a North American manufacturer and distributor into a global enterprise serving approximately 145 countries on six continents.

Mr. Montrone is also chairman of Latona Associates, a private management and investment company.

During the Clinton administration, Mr. Montrone served as a member of the President's Advisory Commission on Consumer Protection and Quality in the Health Care Industry, as well as a founder of the National Forum for Health Care Quality Measurement and Reporting.

Alumnus Paul Montrone '62, Chairman and CEO of Fisher Scientific International, Inc., was awarded the President's Medal at the University's President's Business Council dinner in Manhattan. Council Meets in Washington

More than 130 University of Scranton alumni, parents and friends attended a celebratory dinner in the nation's Capitol on June 3. The event was planned and presented by the newly formed President's Council of Washington.

Among the special guests were past and current Presidents of the University Rev. Joseph M. McShane, S.J., Rev. Scott

R. Pilarz, S.J., Rev. William J. Byron, S.J. and Rev. J.A. Panuska, S.J.

Also in attendance were northeastern Pennsylvania's two U.S. Representatives, Paul Kanjorski, who represents Pennsylvania's 11th Congressional District, and Don Sherwood of the 10th Congressional District.

Three Scranton alumni served as masters of ceremony: Jordan Clark '67, Stephen

Seven health care professionals have been appointed to serve three-year terms on the Medical Alumni Council. They are: Debra Scopelliti Georgetti, M.D., '91, Scranton, a pediatrician at Northeast Pediatrics; Michael Platt, M.D., '98, Delmar, N.Y., resident at Albany Medical Center; Timothy Scialla '98, Philadelphia, internist, Johns Hopkins University Hospital; W. David Fitzpatrick, M.D., '88, Dalton, Northeast Cardiology Associates; Mark Cruciani, M.D., '79, Clarks Summit, physician/rheumatologist; Jean-Paul Bonnet, D.O., '76, Sparta, N.J., Skylands Medical Group; Joanne Calabrese, D.O., '91, Jim Thorpe, general internist; Stephanie Tessing '03, Philadelphia, medical student, Temple University.

Established in 1994 as an affiliate of The University of Scranton Alumni Society, the Council assists undergraduate health professions students, educates students in the health-related programs, provides continuing education programs for alumni in the health-related professions and symposiums of interest to the medical community, showcases the University's pre-med program, and keeps physicians and other health-related professionals up to date with regard to campus development. Lawrence F. Gallagher, D.M.D. '81 is Chairman.

Alumni Directory – The Sixth Edition

Despite the successful launch of the Scranton Online Alumni Community last year, the demand still exists for a printed directory. The Office of Alumni Relations is working with the Bernard C. Harris Publishing Company to produce the sixth edition of The University of Scranton Alumni Directory, scheduled for release in June 2004. Watch your mail for details. The directory will include personal, academic and business information about our graduates. When you receive your directory questionnaire, take a few minutes to update your information.

Special Reunions Being Planned

With the success of numerous special constituent reunions over the past few years, the Alumni Society will help several University departments to celebrate milestone events in 2004.

To commemorate the 10th anniversary of the opening of the Royal Theater in the McDade Center for Literary and Performing Arts, a reunion of former University Players and those involved in the production of plays, both in the Royal Theater and the Eagen Auditorium over the years, will take place on Saturday, Feb. 14, on campus. The event will feature a special reception, dinner and program, tickets for the production of Some Enchanted Evening: The Songs of Rodgers & Hammerstein and post-theater reception. Richard A. Larsen is coordinating the event with the Office of Alumni Relations.

The year 2004 will mark the twentieth anniversary of the opening of the Physical Therapy Department. The reunion of Physical Therapy graduates will be held on Saturday, Sept. 25, on campus. The event will include an Open House, informational sessions and a dinner reception for PT alumni and their guests. John Sanko of the Physical Therapy Department is chairing the event.

Finally, alumni in all classes from the Nursing Department will salute Rosellen Garrett, Ph.D., long-time University faculty member and founding member of the department, on her retirement at the end of this academic year. The event is scheduled for Friday, May 28, with a dinner reception in her honor at Nichols Village, Clarks Summit. Nursing alumni will also be invited as special guests at the pinning ceremony for the Class of 2004 on Commencement Weekend. Mary Jane Kalafut DiMattio, R.N., Ph.D., '89 is Chair of the Nursing Alumni Council.

REV. RICHARD MCSORLEY, S.J.

Rev. Richard McSorley, S.J., Professor of Philosophy at the University from 1952 - 1961, died Oct. 17, 2002.
Following his years of service at Scranton, Fr. McSorley became a professor of theology at Georgetown University. He is remembered by many as the family priest for the Kennedy family. After the death of John F. Kennedy, Fr. McSorley became a personal confidant of Jackie Kennedy's, helping her to deal with the loss of her husband. This story is told in the October 2003 issue of Redbook magazine.

ROBERT H. SPRINGER, S.J.

Rev. Robert H. Springer, S.J., one of the original 19 Jesuits to arrive at The University of Scranton in 1942, died
July 7, 2003 at Murray-Weigel Hall
at Fordham University, Bronx, N.Y.
Fr. Springer taught Greek and French to freshmen at Scranton Preparatory School.
